

Setting Full Moon as Viewed near the Equator

In December, the Moon sets in the west-northwest and is tilted so that its eastern side sets first.

Viewed from space, 50,000 miles from Earth

Viewed from an Earthbound perspective