

Setting Full Moon at a latitude of 45° South

In December, the Moon sets in the west-northwest and is tilted so that its northeastern side sets first.

Viewed from an Earthbound perspective

Viewed from space, 50,000 miles from Earth